variations. Find the day's Yoga and Avayoga planets and the Zero-Rasis. Remember the Birth Yoga Planet. These are factors needed for the evaluation of the day's results.

Similar to the method of estimating the merits of a Bhukti Lord from its Starter and Ruler, work out in the Day's chart the merit of Birth Yoga planet. The result indicates the Day's value. This is the sum and substance of this theory. Still for the benefit of those that cannot fully digest this theory stated in a line or two, I try to explain it further with illustrations where necessary. By research I have found one peculiarity here. In the case of males, the Rulers play more important part than the Starters while Starters predominate in female charts.

A Few Striking Points to be Noted

1. Day's Yogi being the Ruler of Birth Yogi - good day.

2. Day's Yogi being group planet of the above Ruler - Good.

3. Day's Avayogi being the Ruler or his group planet- Bad day except when the Birth Yogi is a Negative planet when the day becomes excellent.

4. In the above cases if the said Ruler or the Day's Yoga planet falls in Zero-Rasi, Negative signs or set the good effects get nullified and the bad effects get submerged.

5. If the said Ruler belongs to the group different from either the Day's Yoga or Avayoga planet, the effects will be normal depending upon its characteristics at birth.

6. The day when Birth Yogi or its Ruler transits the star of the Day's Yoga Lord in a good Bhava (in Birth Chart) the day will be good. Contrary will be the case with Star of Day's Avayogi in Bad Bhava.

7. Similarly look to the transit of Day's Yogi in the Star of Birth Yogi in good Bhava.

8. Counting from Birth Lagna see in what Bhava the Day's Yoga point and the Day's Yoga Lord transit. It is the effect of that Bhava that would be felt that day.

9. If Birth Yogi is a negative planet at birth or Rahu or Ketu then their crossing the Day's Yogi gives Yoga after rubbing; but if such a planet crosses the day's Avayogi as Ruler brilliant effects happen on the day quite unexpectedly (Viparectha Raja Yoga) except when the Day's Avayogi is Birth Yogi's enemy.

10. Just as you read from Birth Yogi, read also from the other planets the effects of the Bhavas they own etc. In my experience this has not given me proper satisfaction. So I confine only to Birth Yogi.

11. As already suggested the Ruler seems to work well with the males while the Starter in the case of females.

Hour of Event

The above Rules will aid to estimate the day's worth. We may further fill up the house. These events fall during the Hora of (1) the Day's Yoga or Avayoga planet as the case stands or (2) the Ruler of Birth Yogi or (3) their group planets. For Hora see Ch.1 Pt. 1. If Rahu be the indicator the results will be felt during Rahu Kalam. Here please note that Rahu and Shani are kiths and so Ketu and Kuja.

A Few Illustrations

(a) The marriage of the native of Chart 1 cited here happened on 13-7-1927 on Wednesday when the day's Yoga was Aridra-Rahu. His birth Yogi Rahu crossed Shani as Ruler that day. Rahu was then in 7th Bhava (being Dhanur Lagna). The day's Yoga point being Aridra it also falls in 7th Bhava. Thus both the Yoga point and Yoga Lord of the day are transitting the 7th Bhava and happily Birth Yogi Rahu crosses Shani as Ruler. You know that Rahu gives effects like Shani being kiths. So the day is good indicative of 7th house effect - marriage.

(b) See his wife's chart. Her Birth Yogi is Shukra who crosses Rahu as Starter and Kuja as Ruler. In the case of females the Starter becomes powerful. The day's Yogi being Rahu it was a good day for her too being in Lagna.

(c) Being Wednesday the third Hora ruling between 8-5 to 9-5 is governed by Shani. As the indicators are Rahu and Shani (like planets) the event happened during Shani Hora.

(d) On 20-2-1960 the native had a very good day. Day's Avayogi was Guru. His Birth Yogi Rahu crossed Guru as Ruler on that day. Rahu being a natural negative planet crossing Day's Avayogi is excellent.

(e) On 17-6-1956 in the case of a male born with Budha as Birth Yogi, Budha crossed Guru as Ruler. On that day Guru was Avayogi. Still he earned plenty that day. Reason is that his Birth Yogi Budha is a negative planet at birth owning 3rd and 12th Bhavas.

(f) On 18-1-1962 when the Day's Avayogi Shukra became the Ruler of Birth Yogi, Rahu the native was trapped for bribery. In Rule 9 above when Rahu a natural negative and Birth Yogi crosses the day's Avayogi (Shukra in this case) a sudden Yoga should have happened; but the contrary has happened. Why ? See the last exception to that Rule that when on such days Avayogi is Birth Yogi's enemy it is bad. As Shukra is Rahu's enemy the evil has predominated.

Misconceptions and Blind Beliefs

All I had to say about the horoscopic side of Astrology have been detailed in the several chapters of Parts I and II of this Treatise. I now touch upon some of the topics which are in daily usage but under heavy misconception or blind faith in the time old sayings which have more or less become dictatorial dictums unchallengeable even by the mighty. But I try to show the fallacy and see how they would be welcome.

(1) Rahu Kalam

This I take first as it is followed by all and at all times. A period of $1\frac{1}{2}$ hour or $3\frac{3}{4}$ Ghatis called muhurtham is taken as the span of Rahu Kalam at prescribed parts on all the week days and they are :

Week Day	Time	Part of Day
Monday	7-30 a.m. to 9-00 a.m.	2
Tuesday	3-00 p.m. to 4-30 p.m.	7
Wednesday	12-00 noon to 1-30 p.m.	5
Thursday	1-30 p.m. to 3-00 p.m.	6
Friday	10-30 a.m. to 12-00 noon	4
Saturday	9-00 a.m. to 10-30 a.m.	3
Sunday	4-30 p.m. to 6-00 p.m.	8

This table is not quite correct. The correct one is to divide the duration of the Day into 8 equal parts and count against the week day its duration in the part of the day assigned across it, counting always from the Sunrise of the place. The above rough table is shown presuming that both the Sunrise and Sunset are at 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. respectively. For any changes in the time of Sunrise or Sunset necessary alterations should be made as stated above. Many do not know this fundamental thing; yet they are so scrupulous in its observance that sometimes they get themselves pratically cheated in that they will have done an act in Rahukalam alone though they think they have avoided it. This I attribute to destiny.

It is not logical to ascribe good or bad traits to certain elements such as Weekday, Thithi, Star and moments like Rahu Kalam, Gulikakalam etc. I will show you that all times are good or bad depending solely on the individual Birth chart. The general conception of good or bad may be applicable to world events and certainly not to particular individuals. Rahu Kalam is not bad for all and at all ages. In fact I advise some to undertake only in RahuKalam and have also predicted that some events have happened only then at which my consultee was wonderstruck as it was so in his life then. He said he was for that reason called Rahukalam Krishna Murthy. Though he tried his best to avoid Rahu Kalam circumstances would force him to do then alone or he would hear the results only then all happy events in his case. The secret of this lies not in its general character but in its static quality at birth. If at birth Rahu is well placed and Yogakaraka and his Dasha operates; all the good effects happen only during Rahu Kalam. It is only when he is badly situated at birth we say that Rahu Kalam is bad-coincides. In fact this may be generalised in the case of all planets and their effects read out during their periods (Horas).

(II) Thithi (New Moon and Full Moon Days)

In Kerala New Moon day is held precious and likewise by the Muslims too. All the rest are afraid of it. The fact is different. New Moon is caused by the conjunction of Sun and Moon. If they are Yogakarakas at birth and the native runs these Dashas, New Moon days falling in good bhavas are the best for the native. For the same reason a Full Moon Day may be bad if either of them is badly placed at birth as on that day they will be in direct opposition. Thus such conclusions of good or bad should always be derived from birth chart and not by blind application of the general say.

(III) Kaalasarpa Dosha

Even this is not properly understood by many. If all planets are hemmed in between Rahu and Ketu in any order they seem to opine the existence of Kaalasarpa Dosha. This is not always correct. You know that Rahu is a Cobra with poison in the mouth while Ketu a Scorpion has it in his tail. The movements of these being anti-clockwise, planets in-between the mouth of Rahu and the tail of Ketu only get hurt. It is here that Kaalasarpa Dosha exists and not when they are between the head of Ketu and trunk of Rahu for the elementary reason that scorpion cannot hurt by its mouth and cobra by its tail. To be more clear if all the planets are from Ketu to Rahu in clockwise order the Dosha is formed and not when in the space of anti-clockwise order. If a planet be with Rahu or Ketu in the same sign then unless by degree position he falls inside the above clockwise direction this Dosha will not be formed.

For example, in Pandit Nehru's chart :

Some may opine that it has Kaalasarpa Dosha. It is wrong for two reasons. (1) The planets are not in clockwise order from Ketu to Rahu, (2) Guru is out of even this anti-clockwise order as he is in advance of Ketu in the sign. Even if this Dosha is formed in a horoscope as per my strict definitions it will not be always bad. Its effect will be felt only when Rahu or Ketu Dasha or that of the planet in their star intervenes. Even then if Rahu and Ketu are Yogaic and in good positions at birth no harmful effect will be felt. Unless all these conditions are satisfied you should not pronounce its bad effects.

(IV) Kuja Dosha

Angaraka Dosha is another great misconceived subject. Mere position in 1, 2, 4, 7, 8 and 12 from Lagna, Moon or Shukra is supposed to cause widowhood or widowerhood. I have witnessed many horoscopes being discarded for marriage alliance on this ground. If it exists in one chart they require one with a similar dosha to counteract the evil. What a wonderful illogical statement it is! As per their own fear that the existence of this dosha in one is likely to kill the other then I argue that both die due to the dosha of one another. If really there be such a dosha in a horoscope you must look to the longevity of the other and not a similar dosha. Merely because Kuja is there how can you mark his real quality? If suppose he be in 8, is he there to harm the partner, his younger coborns, his lands or the effects of the bhavas he owns or not at all to harm but to give Yoga? For Simha Lagna Kuja in 4 is Yogakaraka. Thus I say there is Kuja Yoga and not Kuja Dosha. If Kuja is Birth Yogi then he always does good whereever he be. Astrology is not so easy to handle. Let the old school revise their concention at least hereafter.

(V) Kalachakra Dasha

It has become the hazy notion of some to resort to all sorts of Dashas if they are not able to progress with Udu Dasha which is always upheld by me. One of the alternative Dashas is Kala Chakra. Be it once-for-all understood that all Kalachakra Dashas do not reveal proper readings. This system may be used only to find out the time of changes in life. The periods when there are jumps like Mandooka Gati (Frog), Ashwa or Thuraga Gati (Horse) and Simhavalokana (Retrospection) caused at the end of Kataka, Vrischika and Meena are important. Texts say that these periods are bad. It is not so always. If the sign to which it jumps be a good bhava good results happen; otherwise bad. Thus Kalachakra Dasha helps only at the period of jumps.

(VI) Nakshatra Dosha

This is another fallacius conception. Even a lady in the house objects at the very thought of charts of Moola, Rohini and Aslesha birth stars. The star as a whole does not harm. If at all there be affliction, it is the minutest division in it that may show off such symptoms not even its padas as some books narrate. Readings should never be based on birth stars only. The Bhava and its Karaka have to be first judged and then the starry effect suplemented to them. Birth in Rohini star alone will not kill the maternal uncle as in the case of Sri Krishna (born in Rohini) unless the sixth Bhava (House of maternal uncle) and Budha (Karaka) are badly situated at birth. If they are good, Rohini in birth will have no such malefic effect. Thus you see that the Radix planetary effects play primary part and not the stars.

(VII) Marriage Alliance Tests

This is a big issue. No two astrologers agree on the point of marriage alliance with two horoscopes with the consequences of the father of a daughter tending to become desperate in his hot and weary pursuit of a Son-in-Law. Though marriages are made in heaven and the tie is already settled our searching for the partner and comparing the horoscope are mere toy-plays of Almighty. Even so we do not do the job well. In most of the cases the family purohit who does not know much of this science becomes the Demi-God of the family and his version is sacred and final. It has become a very necessary factor (I say necessary evil) to judge the merit of the alliance by marks of Kootams which are after all very very secondary. There are many instances recommended as per these marks which have proved otherwise. After all to verify as per marks-system it needs no technical man. It is meant to be resorted to as a last measure in case there be no Astrologer in that place.

The next question is how far to rely on the accuracy of the chart of an outside party when it is difficult to strike the correct birthtime of our child. In fact all conclusions may be inferred from any one chart alone using the other one for formal verification and confirmation and also to estimate the destiny of Tie. I am going to show that effects of Kootams can be seen in the chart itself singly or with the other chart.

Single Sided Surveying one Horoscope only :

(a) Rasi and Graha Mitram : See how the lords of 1 and 7 are mutually situated and see their mutal cordiality etc. If they are in 6, 8 and 12 (inutually) they differ. In such case the destiny drives the native to join a similar partner with any amount of careful comparison of the two horoscopes. Even if they are mutual enemies if they are posited together or mutually aspecting each other they live together even with differences of opinion. Here one thing has to be noted. Suppose the lord of the 7th is the enemy of the lord of lagna, it then means that the partner is the native's enemy. If the lord of Lagna is not the enemy of the lord of 7th then the native will not reciprocate the illwill. In such a case it is only the native that becomes the sufferer. Similarly regarding the aspect : The aspector has affinity towards the aspectee and the reverse. So in such a case there is single sided affinity. Further, of the two the more powerful rules over the other.

(b) Yoni Kootam : Conjugal happiness to be judged by the 7th house.

(c) Stree Deergam : Judge from Shukra and the 8th house.

(d) Ganam : Compare the gunas of the lord of 1 and 7.

(e) For all the rest of the Kootams contributing to happiness of the couple look to the 4th and 7th Bhavas.
